

Definitions of Awards, Prizes and Achievements

Award:

Accredited performance in non-academic contexts measured/assessed by, or with external accreditation recognised by, the University. For the avoidance of doubt, this also provides the opportunity for the inclusion of individual units/modules studied, in addition to the main degree programme, if these do not already appear in section 4.3 of the student transcript.

Prize:

Rewarding both academic and non-academic achievement.

Achievement (Other Recognised Activity):

Undertaken by students which demonstrate achievement but for which no recognition is provided in terms of academic credit. This may include volunteering, representative roles or training courses provided or recognised within the institutional context which do not attract credit. It may also include significant additional verifiable roles; for example representation at national level in sport, or participation in activities encouraged within formal learning but demonstrated through individual student effort outwith formally accredited activities
