Enhance your career at the professional university

We are known as 'The Professional University' due to our strong emphasis on lifelong practical learning and career development.

We take the employability of our graduates seriously, and ensure they have the transferable skills to enhance and develop their careers.

WE CREATE THE MOST EMPLOYABLE GRADUATES IN THE UK

Our strong focus on professional education means our graduates are not just ready to work, but are also equipped to make an enduring and valuable contribution to industry and the professions on a regional, national and global scale.

We believe it is our inspirational teaching and practical courses that make our graduates such desirable candidates.

ACADEMIC EXPERTS

We're proud of our teaching staff; proud of their quality and academic achievements as well as the practical experience they have in their area. Our professors, lecturers and tutors combine first-class qualifications with time spent in business or industry. They offer insight from both worlds – the theoretical and practical – to help inspire you.

EARN MORE

Overall, people with master's qualifications are more likely to find work than those with undergraduate degrees – and they're likely to earn a slightly higher wage.

SUCCEED IN YOUR CAREER

We produce high-calibre graduates who possess the skills that employers are looking for. The skills you will gain from a postgraduate qualification show that you're able to study in-depth and undertake critical analysis. Both are viewed as desirable skills in the eyes of recruiters and future employers.

Mapping your journey

Study modes to suit you

When considering a postgraduate course, it is important to also consider the mode of study which best suits your needs. We deliver the equivalent learning experience across all our modes of study, offering a variety of different options, allowing you to gain the qualifications you need in a way that suits you. We will consider both your existing qualifications and relevant experience to map out a study route to suit your career aspirations.

Full-time study

This is the quickest route and requires full attendance for the duration of the programme. Allows you to gain the knowledge and skills you require within the shortest amount of time.

Part-time study

If you are looking to continue working during your studies or have other commitments, this option allows you to incorporate studying with other responsibilities. Part-time courses run alongside the full-time programmes and split the same modules across the length of the course.

Flexible online study

If you are unable to study on campus, we offer an online study mode via Campus Moodle, our virtual learning environment.

It is a valuable tool that provides an integrated package of resources and facilities to all of our students via the internet. You will be able to interact with fellow students and tutors through innovative technologies including podcasts, videos, chat and discussion forums. You will be taken through an induction by tutors at the beginning of each programme.

Find out more about Campus Moodle at:
www.rgu.ac.uk/campusmoodle

Online students have a strong sense of community through the use of discussion forums, chat and group working areas. Some courses also have optional periods of attendance where students are invited on campus to meet fellow students, staff, use facilities and participate in workshops.

Our fantastic riverside campus

BEST RIVERSIDE CAMPUS

Located in the heart of the historic Royal Deeside, the University's £120 million riverside campus is one of the most beautiful in Europe and ranks 3rd in the UK for its high-quality facilities (The Times Higher Education Student Satisfaction Survey 2016).

The riverside is home to deer, otters, heron and other wildlife. Our campus has stunning woodland walkways and parkland, connecting our modern, stylish buildings. In twenty minutes you can be in the vibrant city centre of Aberdeen, or surrounded by scenic hills and picturesque countryside.

Moot Court

Law students benefit from our Moot Court. The purpose-built courtroom is fitted with recording equipment for filming assessments and debates, meaning our students have the chance to practice their advocacy skills.

An inspirational learning environment

Based in a state-of-the-art building with excellent IT services, we bring the legal world alive using facilities such as the Moot Court. This is a TV studio fitted with courtroom furniture and recording equipment that enables us to turn moots into documents that we can then use as teaching aids.

Our extensively stocked law library has a wide range of books, journals and online resources, including legal databases and business-related materials as well.

We also offer students full support to study from home outside of lectures with most course material and books digitised for easy access online.

The School utilises a broad range of the University's facilities and connections to support teaching, including:

- use of Virtual Learning Environment
- recording live lectures
- dedicated student study centre in the Aberdeen Business School building
- national and international Mooting opportunities including the Willem V Moot in Vienna
- Placement Office and opportunity for formal work placement as part of your studies

Designed to enhance your learning experience, our modern campus houses an extensive range of additional cutting-edge teaching facilities and equipment including:

- DART training facility which simulates drilling on an oil platform
- Digital imaging X-ray suite
- Three-dimensional motion analysis system
- TV and radio studios
- Digital Moffat Space
- Green screen
- Modern Mac and IT labs
- World-class sporting facilities at RGU Sport with three gyms, 25m pool, sports hall and climbing wall
- Landmark library tower overlooking Aberdeen and the River Dee

OIL AND GAS INSTITUTE

The RGU Oil and Gas Institute was set up to provide a front door for companies looking to take advantage of our extensive knowledge and expertise in oil and gas. We have a network of partner institutions and a team of experts who can support your business needs.

We deliver thought-leadership, exclusive facilities, education, training, consultancy and research for business. Benefiting from a £5 million investment from the Wood Foundation, the University will ensure that the Institute becomes a global centre of excellence in oil and gas.

The Institute provides businesses with access to world-class expertise in the critical areas of drilling, operations, decommissioning and business excellence.

Led by industry experts and academics, the Institute will work closely with the sector on the research and education required to maximise recovery of the world's hydrocarbon resources and to make decommissioning commercially and environmentally effective.

World-class research

The Law School has a reputation for high quality, innovative teaching and a strong research culture which was rated as of 'national excellence' in the last research assessment.

The Law School is active in a number of applied research projects and provides doctoral research opportunities and expertise in a wide range of law subject areas.

Our research has been determined to be either at the level of 'International Excellence' or internationally recognised in over half of its output, in terms of its originality, significance and rigour. The department has also been awarded substantial research grants from the Scottish Executive, the Nuffield Foundation and The European Social Fund, and organisations such as the British Academy.

PhD Supervision

We are particularly interested in applications in the following topic areas;

Managing concurrent criminal jurisdiction.
A critical analysis of the attempts to address concurrent criminal jurisdiction internationally – with Dr. Paul Arnell.

The right to personal autonomy and freedom of decision-making for incompetent patients: is there a need to provide a legislative framework for advance decision-making? – with Dr Sarah Christie.

Current doctoral research being undertaken by our students includes the following titles:

- Legal regulation in the sphere of foreign investments in the Republic of Kazakhstan
- Contract stability and the national interest
- ADR systems and access to justice in developing countries
- Harnessing the regulatory framework for optimising environmental compliance in the hydrocarbon sector in Nigeria
- The rise and fall of the right to a fair trial
- Prosecuting information infrastructure criminals: Beyond borders
- Building a legal regime for counteracting climate change: A comparative analysis of Scottish and Nigerian response

WHAT IS A MOOT?

A moot is a legal debate taking place in a mock court or arbitration room setting, where law students as counsel present an argument before a judge or an arbitral tribunal on behalf of their clients. The debate between the parties is based upon a moot problem which consists of a mock factual situation raising challenging and complicated points of law.

MOOTING AT THE LAW SCHOOL

As well as entering student teams in a number of Scottish Universities' Moot competitions the Law School annually enters a team in the Willem C. Vis International Commercial Arbitration Moot. It is one of the world's most prestigious international moot court competitions for law students. The goal of the Moot is to foster the study of international commercial law and arbitration for resolution of international business disputes. The Moot has been held annually since 1994 attracting the ever increasing number of law schools from all around the world, and is sponsored by a number of prominent academic and arbitral institutions.

The student team is responsible for writing two memoranda, one for the Claimant (due in early December) and one for the Respondent (due in January). After the briefs are submitted, the team prepares intensively for the oral argument phase of the competition.

The team may consist of undergraduate and postgraduate (including PhDs), on-campus as well as distance learning students located in any country. Above all, the team is recruited of passionate, enthusiastic, hardworking and internationally-minded students who are up for this challenge. The Moot is a tough challenge, and requires very significant time commitments and effort. In most law schools, being selected as a team member is in itself an acknowledgement of excellence. Many former "mooties" have described their participation in the Moot as an experience of a lifetime.

Diploma in Professional Legal Practice

PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

The Diploma in Professional Legal Practice enables graduates to practice as solicitors in Scotland. This is an accredited PEAT 1 course accredited by the Law Society of Scotland.

After completion of an LLB Degree from a Scottish university, or the professional examinations of The Law Society of Scotland, those who intend to become solicitors in Scotland are required to undertake the Diploma in Professional Legal Practice.

The course is studied full-time over 26 weeks although there is an option to complete the course on a part-time basis (over two years).

HOW YOU WILL LEARN

In full-time and part-time mode, you will learn through a combination of lectures, seminars and workshop sessions. These comprise of a mix of group study, discussion, simulation and presentations of findings by teams and individuals. You will work as an individual and also as part of a team on case studies, team activities, presentations and discussions.

Access to our virtual learning environment, Campus Moodle, is also provided giving you access from home to learning materials (including videos, e-books and journals).

WHAT YOU WILL STUDY

This Diploma in Professional Legal Practice core modules are as follows:

- Conveyancing
- Private Client
- Litigation
- Business Finance and Practice

Plus three out of the following options:

- Commercial Conveyancing
- Advanced Civil Litigation
- Practical Social Work and Child Law
- Oil and Gas Practice
- Employment Practice
- Practical Dispute Resolution
- Public Administration

Please note: Optional modules will be run subject to demand.

The course also includes mandatory talks by external guest speakers including The Law Society of Scotland and mandatory court visits.

BENEFITS TO YOU

This is an accredited PEAT 1 course with accreditation from The Law Society of Scotland. The Diploma in Professional Legal Practice allows graduates to practise as solicitors in Scotland.

WHO SHOULD APPLY?

To gain admission to the Diploma course entrants require to obtain passes in certain "core" subjects (prerequisite professional subjects) in their LLB Degree from a Scottish university.

Alternatively you will have undertaken a pre-Diploma training contract and completed the Law Society of Scotland's professional qualifying examinations.

APPLICATION PROCESS

To apply for entry to the Diploma in Professional Legal Practice you must complete the application form specific to the Diploma.

Applications made on the standard Robert Gordon University postgraduate application form will not be considered.

Those wishing to apply for a place on the Diploma in Professional Legal Practice:

- Will graduate LLB from Robert Gordon University in 2018, or earlier; OR
- Are engaged on a pre-Diploma Training Contract;
- Will graduate LLB from another Scottish University in 2018 or earlier

Download the Application Form and Guidance Notes from the course page on our website. The deadline for applications will be listed on the website too www.rgu.ac.uk/legalpractice.

Please note that you should apply to the university where you have completed or are completing your LLB even if you wish to apply for DPLP at another Scottish university. If you wish to apply to study at another university please check that university's website in order to check if there are other requirements to comply with. Applicants engaged on a pre-Diploma training contract should apply directly to their first choice Diploma Provider.

"Since the launch of the Diploma course in September 2005, the feedback from participating students has shown their high degree of satisfaction with the course. A real mark of this success is that 75% of the students have already found traineeships with legal firms."

LLM Construction Law and Arbitration

LLM/MSc

PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

This course provides practical and valuable teaching in the fast moving and highly specialist disciplines of Construction Law, Construction Adjudication and/or Arbitration (depending on choice of route).

This course will help equip the professional with an in-depth knowledge and understanding of key topics in the fields of construction law and dispute resolution processes – providing specific focus on those processes which run alongside traditional litigation.

The course is made up of students from across the world and from a range of professional backgrounds in the construction and engineering fields.

This course is not just for lawyers but for others with an interest in the legal issues surrounding construction claims, contracting, project management and so on. Experience shows that most students manage to successfully juggle studies with their busy professional lives.

FLEXIBLE ONLINE LEARNING

Our supported online learning mode allows you to study online from any location and is designed to fit in around your work commitments. You will be taught and supported by our teaching team which contains a balance of experienced industry professionals and high quality academic staff - who will help create a challenging interactive format for those students studying at a distance.

Our virtual learning environment, Campus Moodle offers students flexibility of where and when they can study, offering full and open access to tutors and other class members. Students have the benefit of being part of a group of learners with the invaluable opportunity to participate in active, group-related learning within a supportive online community setting.

The course team have recently introduced some new options as an alternative to the traditional academic dissertation. These take the form of an in depth case study - helping students to research and apply the law in a more practical context; additional taught modules which will be relevant to their careers or a short research project. Students can also work as a team to prepare and deliver arguments in an arbitration Moot.

LLM Employment Law and Practice

PgCert/PgDip/LLM

PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

The LLM Employment Law and Practice is the only UK Employment Law LLM to give students an optional ADR route. This route allows students the ability to apply for associate membership of CI Arb.

The course is focused on equipping you with the necessary skills and knowledge to be effective, highly functioning employment law specialists able to find, understand and apply the law in a professional context. The course content is designed to give you an in-depth knowledge of relevant UK and EU employment law, and develop your core legal and professional skills.

The course is delivered fully online (except for one optional module, which requires attendance at an on campus workshop), and can be studied either full-time or on a part-time basis.

TAILORED FOR YOU

The course structure allows for flexibility in not only where or when, within a week, you study but also what you actually study. It enables you to choose up to three optional modules tailoring your learning to meet your interests and needs.

If you are new to studying law, the Legal Framework module is there to help you learn key legal concepts and structures necessary for understanding and applying employment law. This allows those without a recent LLB to be in a position to tackle the more advanced employment law modules later in the course. At the same time, those who have a recent law degree, or who are legal practioners, will benefit from the choice to refresh their memory, by taking this module, or take another optional module.

WHAT YOU WILL STUDY

Download the full module descriptors for each module under the 'What you will study' section of our course webpage at www.rgu.ac.uk/elp

Core Modules

- Employment Contracts and Rights
- Termination of Employment
- Employment Tribunal Skills
- Labour Law
- Equality and Discrimination Law
- Legal Framework*
- Dissertation

Optional Modules

Up to 3 of the following modules may be chosen:

- Theory and Principles of Conflict Resolution
- Mediation in Practice
- Oil and Gas Contract Law
- Arbitration Law
- Oil and Gas Law
- Health and Safety Law
- Legal Framework*

* (this module is compulsory for those who are not legally qualified and optional for those who are legally qualified)

FLEXIBLE ONLINE STUDY

The course is taught online by experienced law academics and practioners, who are highly skilled in the area of employment law and dispute resolution. Only one optional module requires attendance at an on campus workshop. All other modules are delivered fully online.

Students are taught through Campus Moodle, the University's virtual learning environment. This allows the teaching on this course to be interactive, interesting and supportive. Students have the benefit of being part of a group of learners with the invaluable opportunity to participate in active, group-related learning within a supportive online community setting.

CAREER OPTIONS

A Masters qualification is key to career advancement and professional confidence and is a highly regarded asset in any professional or academic sector. This course will enhance your knowledge and ability, professional standing and employability within the employment law field.

With the adoption of mandatory pre conciliation in employment law cases, and an increase in popularity of mediation and arbitration, ADR knowledge and skills are becoming increasingly necessary for an employment law specialist. In today's competitive job market having demonstrable employment law and ADR knowledge and skills is a distinctive advantage, not only for advancement in your career, but to enhance your own self confidence.

WHO SHOULD APPLY?

A first degree in law, business or HR management and/or a professional qualification is preferred but not essential. If you do not have a formal undergraduate degree, relevant experience in the employment law field can be an acceptable substitute, subject to Course Leader approval.

Those who are legally qualified have a slightly different course content than those who are not. For more details on who would be considered legally qualified, please see the 'Entry Requirements' section of the course website.

All international students, for whom English is not their first language, must provide evidence of linguistic ability, by gaining either an IELTS score of 6.5, or its equivalent, prior to receiving an unconditional offer of a place on the course.

"I chose to do the Employment Law and Practice course for a number of reasons. The extent of my knowledge has been based specifically around employment law and although I am CIPD qualified, I wanted to broaden my knowledge base but with a course that was still relevant to my role as an HR Manager within a County Council.

I work closely with the solicitors within our legal department and this course has helped me to improve my understanding of their role and has helped to develop my skills base particularly with regard to the tribunal cases we deal with.

This course has also helped me to understand the particular pressures that are placed on employers within the public sector as our performance is put under scrutiny by various government bodies and we have to comply with specific measures.

I am aiming to make good use of the knowledge and skills I have gained from this course within my own career in HR."

Lisa Griffiths, HR Manager
Employment Law & Practice LLM

LLM Law

PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

The Law LLM equips you with the in-depth knowledge and skills needed to enhance your professional career in a range of legal environments.

Offering flexibility in what you will learn and in the way you learn. You may select modules from an extensive range of options leading to a general LLM or you can choose to specialise in particular study areas including Energy Law, Dispute Resolution and Commercial Law at your own convenience, combining on-campus and online modules.

This course will enhance your knowledge, ability, professional standing and employability. Several of the modules are accredited or recognised by professional bodies such as the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators and the Energy Institute.

No matter what route you choose, the course will prepare you for a future where your knowledge and skills will truly make a difference.

RGU's Law School has been rated 5th in the UK for Student Satisfaction (The Complete University Guide, 2017)

WHAT YOU WILL STUDY

Each student will be expected to complete eight modules (including four from the specialised route of your choice, if any) and a dissertation as part of the LLM programme. BENEFITS TO YOU

Whatever you choose, our classes prepare you for a future where your knowledge and skills will truly make a difference. If you are a recent graduate, this course will assist you in securing your first role within a law or business environment, or prepare you for further academic study. In an increasingly competitive jobs market, practitioners equipped with both understanding of commercially relevant aspects of law and strong professional skills are highly sought after. The programme also provides the opportunity for lawyers in mid-career to acquire increasingly expected skills and knowledge in alternative dispute resolution, while non-lawyers are assisted in the transition into specialist legal areas that complement their existing experience in business and commerce.

WHO SHOULD APPLY?

For entry to the course you should hold an Undergraduate law degree in any jurisdiction, or be a graduate in any discipline, with law-related work experience such as contracts. (If you do not hold a law degree, you may be required to include the introductory module "The Legal Framework" in your programme of study).

All international students, for whom English is not their first language, must provide evidence of linguistic ability, by gaining either IELTS 6.5 or its equivalent in TOEFL prior to receiving an unconditional offer of a place on the course.

LLM Oil and Gas Law

LLM/MSc

PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

MSc/LLM Oil and Gas Law focuses on the main legal issues within today's oil and gas industry.

Aberdeen is the energy capital of Europe and this postgraduate course in Oil and Gas Law, taught at Aberdeen Business School, has been developed to provide graduates with the skillset required in an area of increasing market demand. It is suitable for those with legal qualifications or with considerable experience in the oil and gas industry.

The course provides the opportunity to critically assess and examine key legal issues in the oil and gas sector, both in the UK and leading areas. On successful completion of the course you will be in a position to understand and deal with some of the main energy legal issues. You will also gain key employability, enterprise and transferable skills.

It can also be studied by the flexible online learning mode allowing busy professionals to study at their own pace.

FLEXIBLE STUDY MODES

One of the unique online study features of this course is its flexibility, so that you can learn at your own pace and at times to suit you. Study options are:

Online distance learning

Full-time fast track modes suitable for those not engaged in full-time employment or for professionals who are willing to reduce their working commitment to part-time while studying for the degree.

Part-time distance learning

For those wishing to study and continue working full-time.

Full-time on campus

The course is taught at Aberdeen Business School full-time on campus.

Online students will study through the University's virtual learning environment, (VLE) Campus Moodle. Campus Moodle has a number of functions, ranging from a repository for lecture support material to video clips of guest speakers, and discussion forums. The discussion forum groups will be a key part of the course, actively engaging you with the course materials, course personnel and fellow students.

WHAT YOU WILL STUDY

The module structure on the course is designed to allow the basic legal concepts to be covered in depth before building on this knowledge by moving onto specific oil and gas law content.

- Energy Law and Policy
- Oil and Gas Taxation, Fiscal Law and Policy
- Oil and Gas Law
- Environmental Aspects of Oil and Gas Law
- Maritime Law
- Oil and Gas Contract Law
- Renewable Energy Issues
- Oil and Gas Management
- Dispute Resolution in Oil and Gas Contracting
- Legal Aspects of Mergers and Acquisitions (full-time only)
- Dissertation

BENEFITS TO YOU

The course has professional accreditation from the Energy Institute. This accreditation is recognition of the high level of quality training and academic expertise provided on this course.

CAREER OPTIONS

There is an increasing need for knowledge of the legal technicalities that affect the oil industry today. This LLM/Masters Oil and Gas Law course will enhance your ability, professional standing and employability within the oil and gas industry. Masters level qualifications are highly regarded in any professional or academic sector and is key to career advancement, the oil and gas industry is no exception. In addition, there are good prospects for further academic research in the oil and gas law field.

Graduates from law courses have a record of excellent employment prospects. Many are employed worldwide in all sectors – industrial, governmental, technical, administrative, operational or self-employed in companies such as Agip Oil, Halliburton, Amec Foster Wheeler, Marathon, Schlumberger, Shell, Stolt Offshore, Total and Weatherford.

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

For entry to the course you should be one of the following:

- law graduate in any jurisdiction
- lawyer admitted to practice in any jurisdiction
- non-law graduate with substantial law-related work experience such as engineering contracts
- legal administrator within a business

An undergraduate degree in law or a related discipline (usually at honours level) is preferred however relevant experience in the oil and gas sector may be an acceptable alternative where relevant qualifications are lacking.

All international students, for whom English is not their first language, must gain either IELTS 6.5 or equivalent.

LLB Law

LLB online

PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

The online LLB law degree is designed for those who wish to obtain an LLB but are unable to attend an on-campus course. It is accredited by the Law Society of Scotland and the course has been developed around the Foundation Programme requirements of the Law Society.

The course offers a flexible learning route, and is designed to provide you with key knowledge across all the main areas of Scots Law, including commercial law, property law, criminal law, family law, public law and other important areas.

Through the online course, you will develop key skills which include; research and analytical skills, along with team working, presentation and writing skills.

HOW YOU WILL STUDY

Our supported distance learning mode of delivery allows you to study online from any location and is designed to fit in around your work commitments. You will be taught and supported by experienced industry professionals who will recreate the same challenging interactive format of the on-campus courses for those studying at a distance.

Our virtual learning environment, Campus Moodle offers students flexibility of where and when they can study, offering full and open access to tutors and other class members. Students have the benefit of being part of a group of learners with the invaluable opportunity to participate in active, group-related learning within a supportive online community setting. As online learners, students are part of a 'virtual cohort' and the communication and interaction amongst members of the cohort is a significant aspect of the learning process.

WHAT YOU WILL STUDY

There are 15 subject modules for the Online LLB course. Modules are the same for each mode, and the delivery times of these will depend on whether you choose to study part-time (standard), part-time (accelerated) or full-time. Subjects studied on this course are:

- Legal Systems, Skills and Ethics
- Human Rights
- Property Law
- Constitutional Law
- Law of Contract
- Commercial Law
- Criminal Law
- European Union Law
- Law of Evidence
- Delict
- Family Law
- Property Rights in Land
- Company Law
- Succession
- Legal Skills and Concepts

BENEFITS TO YOU

An LLB qualification can be used for entry or advancement into the legal profession or other areas such as energy, government or journalism sectors. This online course is available on a part-time basis (with standard and accelerated options) and is available on a full-time basis.

WHO SHOULD APPLY?

The Online LLB is designed as a graduate entry qualification. Applicants will be expected to have a Bachelor's degree (or equivalent) in a relevant discipline such as law, business, management, history, modern studies, journalism or other similar subject.

Applicants who do not have a degree in a relevant discipline may still obtain entry under one of the following criteria:

Has a Bachelor's degree in a non-relevant discipline AND can present a reasoned case for wishing to embark on a law degree;

OR

Does not have a Bachelor's degree BUT the applicant can demonstrate that he/she has the intellectual ability required to undertake an LLB degree. This will usually be evidenced by a mixture of non-degree level qualifications combined with relevant industry/practice work experience.

The Course Leader has the sole discretion to accept or refuse any application for entry to the course and must be satisfied that each applicant will be able to devote sufficient time to the course and of successfully completing the course.

Fees, funding and scholarships

FUNDING

Postgraduate students will normally make their own arrangements for payment of fees. All fees are listed on individual course pages on our website.

Postgraduate Tuition Fee Loan (PTFL)

Support for postgraduate funding is provided through a Postgraduate Tuition Fee Loan (PTFL), formerly PSAS, the Postgraduate Students Allowance Scheme. It is run by the Student Awards Agency for Scotland (SAAS). The maximum tuition fee loan levels for 2017/18 are £5,500 for full-time courses and £5,500 for part time courses. You will only be able to secure the maximum fee chargeable for your course up to these values.

Eligible (Scottish domiciled and EU) full-time or part-time students who have accepted a postgraduate place on an eligible course can apply directly to the SAAS for a loan to cover up to £5,500 towards their tuition fees.

Students enter into an agreement based on the terms and conditions of the Income Contingent Repayment Loan. Repayment is directly linked to income, through the income tax system, ensuring that monthly repayments are affordable.

EU students are also eligible to apply to SAAS for a tuition fee loan. They will need to get a UK National Insurance number to become eligible. Further information can be found at www.rgu.ac.uk/pgfees

The application form is available to download from SAAS website. You should monitor the SAAS website for updates. www.saas.gov.uk

Payment options

There are payment installment options available, but how and when you pay is determined by factors such as where you live as well as your chosen mode of study (fulltime, part-time or online).

20% Alumni Loyalty Discount

We offer our alumni a 20% loyalty discount on the University's postgraduate course fees. The discount applies to both home and overseas alumni (holders of undergraduate degrees from Robert Gordon University) who commence postgraduate study at the University. It can only be applied to tuition fees and cannot be used to cover any other programme-related expenses (e.g. residential costs, materials or membership fees).

For further information visit www.rgu.ac.uk/discount

SCHOLARSHIPS

RGU SPORT scholarship

There are a number of sports scholarships offered to promising sports men and women to support them in developing their talents and succeeding in their chosen sporting field whilst undertaking academic study. Scholarships are offered on an annual basis to athletes who are at, or close to, national standard in their given sport. Financial assistance is awarded to support travel, training, equipment and competition expenses accrued during the academic year.

www.rgu.ac.uk/scholarships

Scotland's Saltire scholarships

The British Council and Scottish Government run Scotland's Saltire Scholarships scheme. There are a total of 200 awards made under this scheme open to students from Canada, China, India and USA who are pursuing a taught one year Masters degree at a Scottish university. Those who are successful will be offered a scholarship totalling £2,000. Students who hold a conditional or an unconditional offer from a Scottish institution can apply.
